

WHAT is it?

- A great fun, outdoor sailing adventure
- Experiencing hands on sailing and being at sea
- An opportunity to learn about yourself and team work

WHO can do it?

- there is a ship suitable for anyone and everyone regardless of age, ability, religion or nationality
- no experience is necessary the full time crew will explain everything to you
- some ships have an upper age limit; some take young people from the age of 12 years old; some specialize in taking people with physical disabilities and many focus on taking young people aged 16-25 years old
- do your research to find the best ship suitable for you

WHERE can you do it?

- on Tall Ships, for demanding work aloft and on deck
- on Small Ships, to work with a small team
- locally in your own country via your national sail training organization

WHAT will I do on board?

The vessel is its own community, so you will have an opportunity to do everything as part of a crew working as a team, this will include:

- taking part in a watch system
- hoisting sails
- climbing the mast
- navigating and steering
- cleaning and cooking

sailonboard.com

WHEN can you do it?

- all over the world and all year round
- the average duration of a sail training voyage is six days, but voyages can last from one day to over three weeks

HOW MUCH is it?

- prices vary according to size of vessel and length of trip - check vessel websites directly for details
- some sailing charities offer subsidized places ask your local sail training organization for details
- a limited number of subsidized bursary places are available - see website for details
- ports hosting a Tall Ships event offer subsidized trainee places to local residents contact the port directly for more information - see our website for details

WHERE can I find out more?

- visit www.sailonboard.com for lists of Tall Ships Races and Regattas, vessels taking part and vessels advertising places available
- contact ships directly for information about dates and costs
- contact your local sail training organization for more information about sail training and local opportunities to take part in your country

WHY do it?

- sail a ship across an ocean
- see the world and make new friends
- confront exciting challenges
- take personal responsibility

Facebook SailTrainingInternational

Twitter
TallShipsRaces

Instagram TallShipsRaces